The Daily Courant.

Friday, September 20. 1706.

The following Advices from Wohlaw, Zittau, and Budiſſin, concerning the King of Sweden's Irruption into the Electorate of Saxony, as alſo his Manifeſto, were printed at Hambourg in the German Tongue.

Wohlaw, September 6.

THE 1ſt of this Month at 6 in the Morning a Major with a Troop of Swediſh Dragoons came to Steinau upon the Oder, and oblig'd the Fiſher-men to furniſh them with Pick-axes, and the Clerk of the Royal Mills upon the Oder, to deliver to them ſuch Inſtruments and other Materials as were neceſſary for the laying of a Bridge over the ſaid River. The King attended by his General Officers, his Guard, and others of his Retinue, forded the ſame at 10 a Clock and viewed the Ground, and 25 Carpenters were ſet at work to make the Bridge, which they did with the Timber deſign'd for the Royal Works upon the Oder. In the mean while the King's Baggage having likewiſe paſs'd the River, his Majeſty with his chief Officers had their Tents pitch'd near the Fiſhery. The 2d while the Workmen were buſy in perfecting the Bridge, 8 Regiments of Horſe and Dragoons and one of Cuiraſſiers forded the River; but the Baggage Waggons were forc'd to remain on the other ſide till the Afternoon. Then, the Bridge being finiſh'd the King with the Generals Lager Croon, Welling, Guldenſtern, Count Piper, &c. began to march into the Country, with the Van; and at the ſame time the Baggage intermixt with a great Number of Oxen and Sheep, paſs'd the River over the Bridge. Theſe were follow'd by 2 Troops of Wallachians; and after them the old Prince Sapieha with his Son paſs'd the Bridge, with ſome more Baggage, 16 Pieces of Cannon, and 12 Mortars. The 3d the Van continued their march, and ſeveral Troops of Horſe came over the Bridge. About 10 in the Morning 3 Regiments of Horſe forded the River, while ſome Baggage with 5 Field-Pieces and 1 Mortar paſs'd over the Bridge; being follow'd by 2 Regiments of Foot, and a great Number of Oxen, and Baggage till 6 in the Evening. The 4th at 5 in the Morning 2 Troops of German Horſe, with their Baggage and 4 ſmall Field Pieces paſs'd over the Bridge, follow'd by the Regiment of Foot Guards conſiſting of 12 Companies, with a great Number of Cattle and Baggage, by another Regiment of 8 Companies with their Baggage and Abundance of Cattle, and at laſt by 6 other Companies of Foot; all theſe paſs'd the Bridge by Noon. The 5th in the Morning there paſs'd only about 20 Men: But before Night, the reſt of the Artillery guarded by 3 Regiments had paſs'd the Bridge. We compute that about 28000 Horſe well mounted and 12000 Foot have paſs'd the River, with 16000 Baggage Waggons and an incredible Number of great and ſmall Cattle. In the Diſtrict of Wintzig Quarters are order'd to be provided for 10 Regiments of Foot, and for the Artillery, and Forrage for a great Number of Cattle.

The King of Sweden's Manifeſto.

WE Charles by the Grace of God King of the Swedes, Goths and Vandals, &c. Make known to all whom it may concern, That whereas we have been oblig'd to enter the Electorate of Saxony with our Army, in order to put a ſtop to the preſent War, ſo unjuſtly begun and carried on againſt us, by the Forces rais'd in this Country; and might, without the leaſt Injuſtice, retaliate the Devaſtations committed by the Elector and King Auguſtus (which continue to this Day) in our Dominions and Frontiers. Yet we have for certain Reaſons thought fit to lay aſide in ſome meaſure our juſt Reſentment, and by vertue of this our Manifeſto moſt graciouſly to declare to the Eſtates and Inhabitants of this Electorate, that all Perſons who ſhall continue in their Habitations and Families, and not remove their Effects, but willingly and without Reluctancy pay their ſhare towards the Contributions to be rais'd for the neceſſary ſubſiſtance of our Troops, ſhall not only be receiv'd into our Royal Protection, but alſo enjoy the benefit of an entire ſecurity in their own Perſons, Families, Effects, Houſes and Poſſeſſions, as alſo in their Trade and Traffick, without ſuffering the leaſt Hindrance, Moleſtation or Damage in any manner in their Goods or Perſons from our Army or Officers. On the other hand, all ſuch as ſhall pretend to ſtand upon their Defence, relinquiſh their Families and uſual Places of Abode, remove, hide, or bury under ground their Money and Effects, or oppoſe our Commiſſaries or other Officers in the levying of the Contributions, or elſe ſhew themſelves refractory and diſobedient to our Orders and Commands, ſhall without any reſpect to their Condition whatever it be, not only be deem'd uncapable and unworthy of receiving the benefit of our gracious Promiſe, but alſo be treated in the moſt rigorous manner, as Enemies, (without Mercy) wherever they are found, and their Houſes and Poſſeſſions ſhall be deſtroy'd. In Witneſs whereof we have ſign'd theſe Preſents with our own Hand, and caus'd our Royal Signet to be affix'd thereto. From our Head Quarters at Krumnelſe, Sept. 5.

CHARLES.

(L. S.) C. Piper.

Zittau, September 9. Yeſterday the King of Sweden decamp'd from Shenberg, (where he had reſted 2 Days) 3 Leagues from hence, directing his march by the Way of Gorlitz towards Lands-Croon by Budiſſin. The Number of his Army remains uncertain hitherto; the Horſe is ſaid to be 24000 ſtrong. The Artillery marches in the Rear of the Foot; they pay for their Proviſions and other Neceſſaries, but rifle the Barns for the Subſiſtance of their Horſes. Laſt Night about 9 a Clock our City was tax'd by Way of Contribution 10000 Rixdollars and 200 Pieces of Blue Cloath. The King has iſſued a Proclamation, enjoyning every Houſe-keeper, not to leave his Family, or Poſſeſſions, under the Penalty of 10 Rixdollars, and in Caſe he does not return in a certain limitared time, to have his Houſes, Poſſeſſions, and Lands ruin'd and deſtroy'd. If any of the Clergy remove from their Livings, they are to be forfeited, and others to be put in their Places, but ſuch as conform themſelves to the Rules preſcrib'd in this Proclamation, are to live unmoleſted in all Reſpects. We are in great Confuſion and Fear, the Poſt which ſhould have come in Yeſterday by 10 in the Forenoon, did not arrive till this Morning, being being oblig'd to take a Circumference through Bohemia. Our Carriers dare not travel the Roads for Fear of the Cossacks who ravage, rifle, and murther the People, wherever they come.

Budissin, Sept. 10. Yesterday the Swedish Army came to this Place, their Head Quarters being at Postwitz, about half an Hours march from hence, where is also the King in Person, who has order'd the Army to rest this Day; but some Troops belonging to the Van being sent before under Collonel Gortz, may in all probability have reach'd Dresden by this time. There is a report here as if a sharp Engagement had happen'd betwixt them and some of the Electoral Troops, in which Collonel Jordan being mortally wounded, is since dead. They behave themselves very civilly, and observe an exact Discipline, provided we pay our Contributions, and furnish them with Necessaries, which proves a hard task for the poor Country People to do. All the Revenues hereabous belonging to King Augustus are siez'd for the use of King Charles of Sweden.

From the Harlem Courant, dated Sept. 21.

Leipsick, Sept. 14. 1500 Men that were in Garrison here, are march'd to Dresden; and Deputies are sent from hence to the King of Sweden, to agree with him upon the Contributions he has demanded of us, to desire him to spare this City, and to let the Fair be held as usual, we pretending to make no Resistance.

Hambourg, Sept. 17. The Regency of the Electorate of Saxony have caus'd the following Ordinance to be publish'd at Dresden in the Name of King Augustus.

Frederick Augustus by the Grace of God King of Poland &c. to all our loving Subjects Greeting. Whereas the Advices we have receiv'd inform us, that the Enemy is actually broke into this Country; but, as 'tis said, observes good Order and Discipline: We therefore hereby require you, not only to continue in the Offices wherewith we have intrusted you, and to take necessary Care in all Occurrences that may happen, but likewise to give notice in due manner to all the Places within your Jurisdiction, that no Man leave his Habitation, nor send away Cattle or Provisions but bring them in for the Subsistance of the said Troops; since 'tis to be fear'd, that if in any Place where the Enemy shall come, they find no Forrage nor Provisions, their Soldiers will commit great Disorders that may occasion the Ruine of all the said Places. This is our Pleasure. Given at Dresden, Sept. 9. 1706.

From the Harlem Courant, dated Sept. 25.

Leipsick Sept. 18. The King of Sweden is with his Army at Meissen; that District is tax'd by the Swedes at 30000 Rixdollars Contribution, that of Gortz has furnish'd 10000 Rixdollars and 100 Pieces of Cloath, Sittau 10000 Rixdollars and 200 Pieces of Cloath, Lauben 5000 Rixdollars, and Schonberg 1000. The Suburbs of Dresden are already burnt, and the City besieg'd by the Swedes; Preparations are made for its Defence by Count Zinzendorf who commands the Garrison in it. Dresden is furnish'd with 300 Cannon and Mortars for its Defence.

From the Amsterdam Courant, dated Sept. 25.

Leipsich, Sept. 19. 60 Swedish Dragoons of the King's Guard being come into this City, stood 4 Hours in the Market-Place, while the Magistrates and Officers held a Council. The Governour of the Castle refus'd to admit them, and declar'd he would defend himself if they pretended to enter as Enemies; but soon after came an Express with an Order in King Augustus's Name to admit them, which was done accordingly. The King of Sweden has declar'd he will quarter 16000 Men within 2 Miles round this City. The Deputies of the Merchants are not yet come back; but 'tis reported the Fair will be kept, and be lengthen'd 14 Days.

Hamburg, Sept. 21. Letters from Saxony advise, that King Augustus arriv'd at Dresden the 7th of this Month, and after a stay of 3 Hours set out from thence for Vienna.

On Monday the 16th Instant was taken up in Woodstreet a small Summ of Money. The Person who lost it leaving an Account in Writing, at the Widow's Coffee-House in Half Moon-Alley near Cheapside, how much the Summ was, and what it was contain'd in, may hear of it paying the Charges.
